DAY 2: VOLCANO HIKE – Medium fitness level required.

Mt. Sibayak is a small strato-volcano overlooking the town of Berastagi in Northern Sumatra, Indonesia. Although its last eruption was more than a century ago, geothermal activity in the form of steam vents and hot springs remains high on and around the volcano. The vents produce crystalline sulfur, which was mined on a small scale in the past. Seepage of sulfurous gases has also caused acidic discolouration of the small Crater Lake.

B, L
